THE COTTON EXPOSITION.

The Oldest Cotton Gin and the Oldest Sewing Machine in the World.

ATLANTA, Oct. 25.—Since the visit of the Cincinnati Board of Trade to the Cotton Exposition here, more order is observable in the main building. There are fewer boxes, cases, and bales of unopened goods on the floors, more exhibits in place, more machinery attached to the long shafts and more wheels and belts running. SEVENTEEN LIVES LOST.

DISASTER TO A STEAMBOAT ON THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER.

THE MACHINERY DISABLED AND THE VESSEL CRASHING AGAINST A BRIDGE—MOST OF THE OFFICERS AND CREW DROWNED AND TERRIBLE STRICKEN.
ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Oct. 28.—A little after 10 o'clock last night, the steamer Jennie Gilchrist left this place with thirteen passengers and a crew of sixteen men on board. About midnight she passed through the bridge, and about a half mile above the engineer discovered that the rod which was used to reverse the wheel was broken, and the boat at once began drifting rapidly down the stream. The swollen river was in motion, and the boat was in a rapid race with the current. When the danger became apparent, Mr. Skelton hastened into the cabin, telling the passengers of the accident which had happened, and urging them at once to take refuge on the barge. He notified the pilot, who exclaimed, "Why don't they do something? For God's sake do something!" and showed him his whistle as a signal of distress. The pilot then left his wheel, giving it a turn for port, and made a break for the barge, crying as he went down stairs, "Save yourselves; she is going to strike the bridge." In the cabin everybody seized the women and children, and rushed to the deck. The boat struck the bridge, and the machinery was disabled. The vessel was in a rapid race with the current, and the boat was in a rapid race with the current.

THE MARCH OF THE RAILROADS.

Danger in Their Power of Combination—How the People are Being Oppressed.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Oct. 8.—Thinking for the past two months of a trip to Colorado, I looked upon the railroad war as a healthy reaction, called it all right, and voted early and often for no quarter, at least till after Oct. 3. That day I purchased a ticket in New York city from there to Kansas City (a neighbor mountain paying $12.50 for a ticket to Pittsburgh). The ticket was for a place car. It suddenly occurred to me that it was just possible that an order of things which gave to the Erie Railroad, for instance, only $2 for carrying a passenger to Buffalo, the most improved methods of conveyance might be all wrong, as asked myself, "What is all about?" Vanderbilt in a reported interview charged the war to the garrulosity of Garrett. Somewhere the New York public got the impression that the jealousy of the other roads had worked bad faith and treachery toward the New York Central. From Buffalo through to Cleveland, the road was running parallel with the Lake Shore road, and not a stone's throw distant at any point, is being very much the same. The Erie Railroad, for instance, is being very much the same. The Erie Railroad, for instance, is being very much the same.

DEADLOCK IN THE SENATE.

PROTRACTED SECRET SESSION OVER A VIRGINIA NOMINATION.

Democracy Striving to Prevent the Confirmation of a Mahanite for Postmaster in Lynchburg—In for an All-Right Session.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The open session of the Senate to-day lasted half an hour only, when the doors were closed and the executive session of the day was begun. The contest over the nomination of Clifford Statham, Realigner, to Postmaster at Lynchburg, Va., which was begun yesterday, was at once resumed. Mr. Hill of Georgia took the floor in opposition to his confirmation and spoke for two hours. The debate was continued by Senators Morgan, Morrill, Hoar, Sherman, and others, chiefly on the political features of the case and its probable bearings upon the result of the election in Virginia. The speeches were interspersed with a number of roll calls on motions to adjourn. The President took the floor and was also diversified by a spirited colloquy between Senators Logan and Voorhees as to which of the two had heretofore shown himself the better friend of the Union soldiers. At about 6 P. M. a vote on a motion to adjourn disclosed the fact that no quorum was present, and the Senate adjourned. The executive session was then resumed, and the debate on the nomination of Clifford Statham, Realigner, to Postmaster at Lynchburg, Va., which was begun yesterday, was at once resumed.

JUDGE FOLGER ACCEPTS.

But Will Not Enter on his New Duties at Albany Until the 1st of November.

ALBANY, Oct. 28.—Judge Folger returned from Washington this afternoon. He says that, while he has formally accepted the office of Secretary of the Treasury, he will not enter upon the duties of the office at once. It is his purpose to continue in his position of Chief Justice until the case which has been argued before a recent term of the court has been decided. THE STRUGGLE IN IRELAND.

AN ARMED BAND THREATENING RENAISSANCE WITH DEATH.

The British Channel Squadron Proceeds to the Irish Coast—A Conspicuous Land Leaguist is Arrested in Cork.
LONDON, Oct. 28.—Mr. Gladstone, in the course of his reply to the address presented to him at Knowlton yesterday, said the point was whether Ireland is to be governed by law made by Parliament, or by laws known to nobody, and written nowhere, except in the brains of a few persons, and enforced by an illegal, arbitrary, and self-appointed association, which sought to overthrow by organized attempts the free will of Irishmen. It was a question between law and chaos. No fewer than thirty thousand applications forms have been issued under the Land act, he said, and this led him to anticipate future peace and prosperity. The Times, commenting on Mr. Gladstone's visit to Knowlton, says that the address was a most timely one, and that it was to be expected that his position among the leaders of the liberal party, and bear the responsibility for the inception and conduct of the policy he supports. SISTER WISE'S TRIAL.

The Sequel to a Quarrel Between Two Methodist Ministers in Exeter.

KINGSTON, Oct. 27.—The law office of Squire D. W. Benton at Elmore's Corners, in Exeter, was crowded yesterday with men and women of the Methodist faith. The cause of the gathering was the trial of Sister W. Wise, who was charged with having disturbed an assemblage met for religious worship. It seems that in 1880 Mrs. Wise and Mrs. Ames were members of the Methodist Church in Exeter. Mrs. Ames had circulated stories about the trial of Sister W. Wise, who was charged with having disturbed an assemblage met for religious worship. It seems that in 1880 Mrs. Wise and Mrs. Ames were members of the Methodist Church in Exeter.
